District Manager’s Report

CENSUS 2020

There is still time to be counted in the Census, and it is urgent that all New Yorkers do just that. Two weeks ago, U.S. District Judge Koh of the Northern District of California ordered that the census must continue through October 31st, a decision that was upheld. We cannot wait for the final decision to play out in the courts; our fair share of $1.5 trillion, as well as our political future, are on the line.

VOTER INFORMATION

This November, we encourage New Yorkers to cast their vote in the general election. While we understand that Covid-19 remains a threat and might influence whether or not you vote in person, this year you have the option of voting by mail and are encouraged to do so. The deadline to request an absentee ballot to vote by mail is October 27th. To request an absentee ballot, go to www.vote.nyc and complete the form as soon as possible. The Board of Elections (BOE) will then mail you a ballot. If you have received an absentee ballot with a return envelope listing the wrong person, DO NOT return your ballot. Instead, the BOE will automatically mail affected voters a corrected ballot packet and instructions.

Recognizing the uncertainty with the United States Postal Service due to interference at the federal level, you are advised to request and submit your ballot as soon as possible and earlier rather than later to avoid delay. If you prefer to vote in person, we recommend voting early to dispel long lines and unnecessary risk. You can find your early voting and Election Day poll sites [and a sample ballot] by visiting www.nyc.pollsitelocator.com.

Finally, sign up to be a poll worker. The New York City Board of Elections is actively seeking poll workers for the upcoming election. You can earn up to $2800 by working up to ten days during early voting and on Election Day. To apply to be a poll worker, visit

INDOOR DINING IS BACK!

Indoor dining in most of New York City has resumed as of Sept 30th at 25% Capacity. There are some restrictions, however, and certain hotspot zip codes are under partial strict restrictions again. Current indoor dining limitations in areas eligible are:

- One person per party has to leave their contact information.
- Masks must be worn at all times
- Tables must be at least six feet apart
- No one is allowed to sit at the bar
- Restaurants must close by midnight

If New York City hits 2% in COVID-19 positivity rates, the City will immediately reassess. Once indoor dining begins, the public will be able to call 833-208-4160 to make a report or text VIOLATION to 855-904-5036.

MUNICIPAL SERVICES UPDATE

Budget cuts have severely hampered certain services that city residents have come to expect and rely on. Some agencies have experienced a reduction in funding of over 15% and sometimes much more. Services eliminated or reduced until such time as the budget gap is closed are:

- No new speed humps approved and installed
- Organics collection discontinued in most areas and expansion to new areas ceased for at least one year
- SAFE disposal events suspended for at least one year
- Curbside electronics collection eliminated
- Graffiti removal program suspended
- Parks Dept. funds severely limited and 371 Parks Dept. staff members relieved of employment, reducing cleaning and pruning in parks and playgrounds
- Recreation centers remain closed and Parks Dept. led activities severely reduced
- Senior centers closed for recreational activities
- Basement Apartment Conversion program with HPD paused indefinitely
- Numerous projects by the Economic Development Corporation suspended as the agency focuses on PPE and obtaining funds from the federal government
- Significant reduction in corner litter basket collection frequency
- 30% reduction in vacant lot cleaning
We should all remain mindful of our individual personal accountability for our actions. If you live next door to an elderly property owner or an absentee owner and recognize that no one is sweeping the front of the property 18 inches into the gutter as required by law, if you have the means to do so, please help out. Take turns rotating cleanup duties with your neighbors to ensure that your block is clean. If you live near a corner basket and notice that it is often overflowing, volunteer to adopt a basket. The Dept. of Sanitation will provide the bags necessary for changing. If you recognize certain garbage strewn streets in your immediate vicinity, organize a two-hour street cleanup. If you utilize parks and playgrounds, take your trash with you when you leave rather than leaving it behind. If a corner basket is overflowing, do not continue throwing garbage into it and instead hold it until you find one with space or toss it when you get home. If you toss it when you get home, you will be able to recycle as well. If you see people littering, use it as a teachable moment and let them know how harmful littering is and then be a role model and discard it where it belongs. If we all rise up and lead by positive example, we will see great changes in and for our community.

Additionally, October 1st marked snow season with the Dept. of Sanitation. As such, there is a revolving late night pickup as trucks are readied for snow and salt duty. You are encouraged to put your garbage curbside by 6 PM the day prior to your regularly scheduled pickup day to avoid missing pickup, which can be done on any shift starting at midnight. If you elect to place your garbage out early morning, you run the risk of missing pickup. There is no longer a guarantee that a truck will be available to gather your rubbish on the same day if you miss pickup.

FIRE SAFETY MONTH

October is Fire Safety month with the FDNY. The end of this month begins their campaign-Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery, a time when the FDNY Fire Safety Education Unit will be distributing fire safety literature and 9-volt batteries to constituents throughout the five boroughs. Have a working smoke alarm in your home saves lives. Change the batteries in your smoke and carbon monoxide alarms when you change your clocks on October 31st.

BROOKLYN CHILDREN’S MUSEUM

Over the weekend COVID-19 rates in Brooklyn continued to rise. Unfortunately, this means that the Brooklyn Children’s Museum will not reopen its indoor exhibits on October 10th as planned. There have been no COVID cases on BCM’s site, and the CB 8 community remains open for business; however, the Museum is acting with an abundance of caution to keep the community as safe as possible.

They are pleased to share that their outdoor events are still happening, and they are planning MORE outdoor programming throughout the fall and winter. They are leading in innovation of how to think differently about what it means to visit a museum while wearing jackets and masks, but still having fun.
Below are a few of the programs they have planned over the next few weeks.

October 9: Member Day with The Little Orchestra Society

Members are invited to join us at no charge for music and art workshops on BCM’s roof. Members have been sent an invitation – if you didn’t receive it, reach out to hello@brooklynkids.org.

October 12: Indigenous Peoples’ Day

Learn about and celebrate Native American cultures on BCM’s roof with programs and performances in partnership with the National Museum of the American Indian, Taino storyteller Bobby Gonzalez, and dancer Ty Defoe (Giizhig), Oneida and Ojibwe Nations. Buy tickets here for $5 per person. BCM Members are free!

Do you have an idea about how Brooklyn Children’s Museum can be a resource to families in the borough? Don’t keep it to yourself! As a whole, the nation is navigating uncharted territory and all suggestions are welcomed. If you have any suggestions, ideas, thoughts, questions or comments, please email them to swilchfort@brooklynkids.org.
